

Benefice Newsletter August 2025

From Revd Karen

Most priests are able to take some slow time in August but not in a Benefice with four lovely churches. We have three weddings in August and three in September. Please hold all our couples in your prayers as they start their married life together.

I have had some problems with the phone at the Rectory so I've moved the official number for the Benefice to a work mobile. The new number is 07510 221883. Please bear with me as I move contacts across from the old mobile and work out where all the buttons are!

A poem written for Marjorie Fennessy and read at her Thanksgiving Service

She dances somewhere there across the gay and lighted circle, dances on the edge of colour, on the fringe of sound, away on the borders of my mind. The arc-lamp burns a path towards her as she moves to catch the music, as she swings and sets and turns.
We weave our dancing pattern in this bright enchanted ring: the darkened faces watch, alert and powerful beyond the light

Percival and Petunia - The Pigeon Saga

For four days in July we hosted Percival and Petunia in church. It was so hot on the Monday that we opened the North Door to get a bit of a through draft. Perhaps in search of cooler airs, Percival and Petunia joined us for the end of morning prayer. Unfortunately having received suitable spiritual nourishment (and cooling) they became disoriented and were unable to retrace their flight out. A very helpful member of staff at the Co-op told advised us it was flocking season. It seems P & P had had their minds on flocking things rather than looking where they were going. (Sue La suggests they were in search of matrimonial union).

Our problem inspired a wonderful community response: The bird keeping Co-op assistant advised small seed to entice them to the door; Adam fetched seed from Tesco; Karen put it down (with a tourist managing bollard); Sue L suggested scary bird noises. Percival and Petunia were unmoved. Undeterred by early failures, Karen recruited the help of her house guest to play distressed pigeon noises (you can find anything online late at night). Percival and Petunia slept through the experience, so the next step was throwing things in attempt to rouse them. Feedback from the house guest rated the stay high on entertainment value. Lindsey takes credit for bringing Donald's fake hawk into church - partial success - Percival left.

The more tenacious Petunia lurked a few more days, before leaving on Thursday morning in response to the return of the painting. Obviously lacking in art appreciation.

Thank you to everyone for your ideas. A special thank you to Robert who mopped the pigeons' distress from the floors, and the altar cleaning team who removed that particular altar blessing - and finally Fillies cleaning company who did a wonderful job getting the church clean for the weekend.

God loves all creation and pigeons; the priest in charge not so much!

IT'S BACK!

The Crucifixion painting has been restored and is now back on show in its new place in the Lady Chapel at St Edward's. Ingrid gave us a wonderful talk about the restoration process – we'll put some of the information in the next newsletter and on our social media so watch this space...

Church safari and Picnic – Bank Holiday

On Sunday 24th August we are celebrating our diverse parishes safari style. Many are away, but remainers will start with a short communion service at Condicote at 9.15 am before travelling in shared cars to Stow for a shorter musical service at 10.30. Complete the safari with lots of tea, cake and bring your own sharing picnic at St. Mary's Lower Swell. The school field is opposite the church and there is plenty of shade if it is very sunny or we can reclaim the church if it is wet.

Focus on... Bellringers

For centuries church bells have sounded, calling people to worship, in celebration of special occasions, in remembrance and to mark dedicated events.

In the early days, the bells were “chimed” to make a sound, but the ringers had little control over the order in which the bells sounded and therefore the “music” they played.

The origins of what we call change ringing lie in the sixteenth century when church bells began to be hung with a full wheel enabling the bell to swing in a full circle and back again. This gave ringers control of their bell, which allowed sets of bells (rings) to be rung in a continuously changing pattern. Music is created by moving bells up and down the ringing order to a defined sequence known as a method.

Bellringing is a team activity that stimulates the brain and helps keep you fit... it also makes a glorious sound! Many consider ringing to be their contribution to church life, others do it for the pure pleasure it brings.

WE NEED YOU!

If you would like to join a merry band of ringers, please come along to see this great tradition of Bell Ringing. You need to be fit enough to climb up ladders/stairs, any age from 12 to 80's. Under 18's will need to be accompanied by legal guardian. Please see contact details below.
